EIGHT DAYS' CARNAGE BATTLE STILL RAGES

Struggle Between the Mighty Forces Resumed Today.

Russia is to Abandon Manchuria, But Will Fight to the Bitter End.

LIST OF CASUALTIES GROWING ALARMINGLY

St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—Dispatches this morning say that the battle was resumed at daybreak with the Russians still holding the right bank of the Shakhe river.

BATTLE NOT YET DECIDED.
Berlin, Oct. 17.—Colonel Gaedke, war correspondent of the Tageblatt, telegraphs from Mukden that when he left the battlefield Sunday afternoon, the general engagement was in progress, and not yet decided. The weather is fine.

THE RAILWAY A DISAPPOINTMENT.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—News from Irkutsk states that the newly completed Baikal railway, on the completion of which the Russian military officials counted so much for expediting reinforcements to the front is in a bad state. The poorest kind of material was used in its construction and the first train took over three hours to make the journey, and was derailed ten times. It will be necessary to use horses instead of an engine to pull the trains during the winter.

TURNED INTO A ROUT.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—Independent messages from the front state that the retirement of the force of Gen. Meyerendorff or Russian right flank, was turned into a rout, and the fight resulted in tremendous losses.

WILL FIGHT IT OUT.
Rome, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg states that after a consultation with the czar, Gen. Gripenberg decided to mobilize six hundred thousand additional troops for the war. Manchuria, it is asserted, will be abandoned for the present. The Russian note will probably be issued announcing to the powers the czar's firm intention of continuing the war.

THE BALTIC FLEET COALING.
London, Oct. 17.—The Copenhagen representative of the Central News, wires that the Russian Baltic fleet, numbering twenty-four warships, is anchored in the southern part of the Great Belt for coaling purposes. The Danish cruiser Heimdal is keeping close to the observation fleet.

23,000 WOUNDED RUSSIANS.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—Reports received today state that twenty-three thousand wounded Russian soldiers have arrived in Mukden the past week.

JAPS CAPTURE MORE GUNS.
Tokio, Oct. 17.—A report from the seat of war this morning says that eleven more Russian guns were captured yesterday, and another report from the neighborhood of Port Arthur asserts that the Russian fleet in the harbor is suffering severely from the shells of the Japanese land batteries.

SUMMONS DE WITTE.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—It is announced that M. De Witte, formerly foreign minister and later president of the ministerial council, will return from his estates in the Caucasus next week.

Tokio, Oct. 17.—A large and important war council was held this afternoon at the palace in the presence of the emperor. The members of the cabinet met representatives of the various political parties at noon in a general conference upon the situation.

MIKADO MAY OPEN NEGOTIATIONS.
London, Oct. 17.—Events of a deep, if not mysterious, significance are occurring at St. Petersburg. The grand dukes have retired to their country estates, and M. Witte, former minister of finance and later president of the ministerial council, announces that he will return next week. This, according to the Globe-Democrat's St. Petersburg correspondent, ent, was completely unexpected, and is being widely discussed. "It," says the correspondent, "is being associated with the mikado's reported intention to proclaim a future policy upon the fall of Port Arthur, and make the occasion serve for the opening of direct negotiations with Russia, in which M. Witte will use his influence."

PROBABILITY OF EARLY PEACE.
Cologne, Oct. 17.—The London correspondent of the Cologne Gazette telegraphs that in British diplomatic circles the possibility of an early ending of the war is entertained. The correspondent claims to have the authority of persons of undoubted standing for making this statement. The result of the latest Japanese victory, they say, is that hostilities may terminate unexpectedly at an early date, and the question of intervention may not arise.

REVOLUTION MENACE.
Vienna, Oct. 17.—A few hours after the first news of the disaster at Yen Tai a revolutionary broadsheet was circulated in St. Petersburg. Under the heading "Who is Guilty?" it said: "The murderers of Russian liberty hope vainly to escape God's punishment. A people degraded into slavery can not do heroic deeds for their oppressors. Double and treble the army, and yet you will succumb. Gen. Kuropatkin is not guilty, but the system of corruption that is dwelling in the czar's palaces."

RUSSIANS TURN THE TABLES.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—Gen. Sakrahoff telegraphs that Russians yesterday recaptured Lonely Tree, south of Shakhe, and captured eleven Japanese guns, one quick firing.

NODZU WOUNDED.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Mukden says that General Nodzu of the Japanese army has retired from the command of his division on account of wounds.

HARASSING THE RUSSIANS.
Tokio, Oct. 17.—Gens. Oku and Nodzu, co-operating in the west, are harassing the Russian retreat. Their operations appear to be highly successful.

MILITARY MURDER

ONE SECOND LIEUTENANT KILLS ANOTHER.

Manila, Oct. 17.—Second Lieutenant William D. Pritchard, of the thirteenth cavalry, killed Second Lieutenant Fred L. Dean, of the same cavalry today, and then committed suicide. The tragedy occurred at Camp Stutzenburg.

Pritchard was insane. He was a native of North Carolina, and Dean was a native of Texas.

A man's narrow mind is seldom due to the fact that he minds his own business.

TOM TRACY GETS A LIFE SENTENCE

Man Captured in Paducah Convicted at Madison, Ind.

Charged With Cutting a Man's Throat Through Jealousy.

OUR OFFICERS GET $250

Officers Gus Rogers and William Johnson received word yesterday from Madison, Ind., that Tom Tracy, the alleged murderer they arrested here several months ago, was convicted there for the murder he had committed, and given a life sentence in the penitentiary. He was Saturday carried to the state prison to remain the balance of his life.

Tracy is alleged to have killed Louis Sieferman by cutting his throat. The trial lasted several days, and Tracy denied that he committed the murder. The killing is alleged to have been the result of jealousy.

While in jail Tracy prepared for the papers "the story of his life," in which he advises young men to forsake evil associations, and credits his downfall to it. He protested his innocence until the train left with him, and expressed the hope that some day those who stood by him and believed in him would find that their confidence was not misplaced.

Tracy had been working about Paducah for some time when recognized by the Paducah officers, and at first denied his identity.

There was a reward of $250 for his arrest and conviction, and this Officers Rogers and Johnson will get, now that their man has been convicted and taken to the penitentiary. They have received no information as to when the reward will be paid, but have assurance that they will get it.

NO VISITORS TODAY.

Esopus, Oct. 17.—No visitors were received at Rosemount today. Judge Parker will leave for New York tomorrow, and will remain until Tuesday afternoon.

REV DR. LLOYD HAS DECLINED PLACE

Cannot Accept the Bishopric of Kentucky.

His Duties as Missionary Secretary Prevented a Change at Present

THE SECOND TO DECLINE.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Mr. Charles H. Pettit, of the committee appointed to notify Rev. A. S. Lloyd, of New York, of his election to succeed the late Bishop Dudley as bishop of Kentucky, this morning received a telegram from Dr. Lloyd, who is attending the triennial convention of bishops of the Episcopal church at Boston, declining the place.

While nothing definite is stated it is probable that Rev. Dr. Lloyd's duties as missionary secretary of the Episcopal church had been so satisfactory that he could not overcome the pressure made on him to retain the position and decline the Kentucky honor.

He is the second to decline the place, the first being Dr. Murray, of Baltimore, Md., who declined several months ago. It is not known who will now be chosen for the place, or when another election will be held.

WORLD'S FAIR ATTENDANCE.

St. Louis, Oct. 17.—The statement of the attendance at the World's Fair, given out today by the department of admissions, shows the total attendance for the last week to have been 939,774, and the total attendance since the opening of the fair 14,316,230.

LADY CURZON IMPROVES.

London, Oct. 17.—Lady Curzon passed a fair night and the improvement noted in her condition yesterday was maintained.

Col. John Landrum, of Mayfield, passed through the city at noon today on route to Louisville to attend the Masonic grand lodge.

THE HOD CARRIERS OUT ON A STRIKE

Want to Carry Instead of Wheel Brick on Market House.

Contractor Katterjohn Says He Will Get New Men For the Work.

GOES TO ST. LOUIS TODAY

This morning the union hod carriers at work on the new market house struck because they were ordered to carry the brick in wheelbarrows instead of in hods.

The hod carriers are colored, and today brick laying should have been in progress at the structure, but the hod carriers declined to work and operations were suspended.

It is claimed that under the method they desired, they can carry but about sixteen brick at a time, and have to do no climbing, while if they carried the brick in wheelbarrows they could carry about twenty-five each, thus accomplishing more, and not having to work any more.

Contractor George Katterjohn stated that when the hod carriers made their last demand on the contractors for $2 and $2.50 a day, it was granted, and it was agreed by them that they would carry in hods or wheelbarrows as demanded of them, and that they have been doing it until today, when they took a notion not to, and wouldn't do it.

He said that he would have been laying brick but for the strike, and that the suspension of operations will delay the work, but he can't tell how much.

He will go to St. Louis today, he said, and get other men to do the work. "The strike will not be settled at all," he said to a reporter. "I am simply going to get new men."

Work had to be suspended on the building Saturday because there was no gravel on the ground, but there was gravel today, and no one to carry the brick.

It is not known what the outcome of the present controversy will be, but that it may seriously delay or hamper the work seems evident.

A. J. HOGAN SHOOTS HIMSELF IN HEAD

Kentucky Avenue Grocer Died Instantly by His Own Hand.

Despondency or Physical Suffering the Cause, It Is Supposed.

A. J. Hogan, a well-known grocer who had a store at 121 Kentucky avenue, and resided at Twenty-third and Kentucky avenue, killed himself yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock by shooting himself in the right temple with a 32-caliber pistol. Despondency is said to be the cause of the suicide.

Mr. Hogan resides next door to his parents and yesterday afternoon, shortly before the killing, was walking about the back yard. During the past several weeks he had been suffering a great deal from a peculiar nervous attack and while he did not go to bed, seemed to suffer excruciating pain. He often walked about when not working at his grocery, to relieve himself, and it is supposed the attack either affected his mind or caused him to become despondent because he didn't improve.

After walking about for a while he went to his mother's house, placed his arm around her and kissed her, and then went to his own residence, and finding his wife in the kitchen, asked her to kiss him. She did so and Hogan then went into the parlor, unsuspecting by his wife or mother of his intentions, took a pistol and shot himself.

The report of the weapon was heard by his wife and also his mother, who then suspected something wrong. They rushed into the parlor and found him dying in a pool of blood. Death was almost instantaneous, as the bullet penetrated the brain, going through the thinnest part of the skull.

Mr. Hogan was about 31 years of age, a sober and industrious man. He was born at New Liberty, Ill., and had been residing in Paducah about three years. He leaves a father, Mr. Marshall Hogan, a mother, wife and three children. He also leaves a brother, Mr. W. A. Hogan, whose entire family was drowned on the steamer Golconda when the boat was turned over in a storm near Smithland three years ago. A telegram was sent to Mr. Hogan, who is now residing in Caruthersville, Mo., last night apprising him of his brother's suicide and he is expected there today. No funeral arrangements will be made until his brother arrives, but the remains will be buried in Illinois, near New Liberty.

Last night at 7:30 o'clock Justice Jesse Young, acting coroner, held an inquest resulting in a verdict of suicide from despondency.

He left no note and said nothing before he committed the rash act that would throw any light on his motive. His wife returned only day before yesterday from a trip to the world's fair, and the tragic death of her husband has completely prostrated her.

He had a good business and it is learned that he was financially in good condition.

Chief of Police James Collins thinks that Hogan intended to kill himself Saturday as a negro came into his office Saturday afternoon and left a small piece of card board, evidently torn from a cracker box card board, on which was written the address of "W. A. Hogan, Caruthersville, Mo.," his brother.

Chief Collins stated that he couldn't imagine what Hogan meant by sending the card and paid no attention to it although it was sent with explicit instructions that it went to Mr. Collins.

"Now that Hogan killed himself," Chief Collins stated, "I feel sure he contemplated suicide Saturday."

Chief Collins stated that Hogan had been trying to sell out the past week intending to devote his time to real estate. He stated that Hogan built several houses in the city and had done so well with them he decided to get out of the grocery business and build and rent houses. Chief Collins stated that the deceased did a good business and was surprised to hear of the suicide.

The navy department has let a contract for 1,500,000 pounds of alcohol for furnishing the bureau of supplies and accounts.

THREE MEN KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Two of Them Unknown and One of Water Valley.

Train No. 151 Broke In Two and Then Smashed Together.

ACCIDENT DUE TO "KNUCKLE"

A worn out "knuckle" on a box car caused a sectional wreck one and a half miles north of Water Valley, on the Fulton district of the Illinois Central Saturday night shortly after 6 o'clock, in which three men were killed and several box cars derailed and smashed up.

Train No. 151, in charge of Conductor Huff and Engineer Alcott, was running fast to make up lost time when the knuckle gave way and left the train part. The first section slowed up and the second section, which had broken loose, came on with great speed and crashed into the other part of the train.

Four box cars were badly smashed and the mangled remains of three men were taken out, two being instantly killed and one fatally injured.

The three men were stealing a ride and were seated on the "bumpers," it is presumed. One was an unknown negro from Mayfield, another a white man from Ohio, unknown, and the third Emmett Thompson, white, a young man of Water Valley, who died while being taken home from the scene of the wreck.

It is reported that Thompson, prior to his death, stated that he had cut the train in two in order to get it to stop so he might alight at his home at Water Valley, but this is denied by railroad men, who say the wreck was due to the worn knuckle.

The remains of Thompson were taken home to Water Valley and the remains of the Mayfield negro have been sent to Mayfield, it is understood, and the other body of the unknown white Ohio tramp, is being held.

Traffic was delayed on this district for some time, the local wrecker being called out to clear away the debris.

SOME TALL

WE ARE SIX FEET BUT HAVE TO LOOK UP TO HIM.

Mr. J. S. Porteous, of Paducah, was in the city Saturday for the purpose of putting up monuments to the graves of the grandsons of Elder J. O. Shelton, Claude and Joe Bazzell. Claude Bazzell was the young fireman who was killed in a wreck at Paducah last spring.

Mr. Porteous is six feet and nine and one-half inches tall and is quite slim, which apparently adds to his height. He is only 21 years of age.—Mayfield Monitor.

ELECTRIC ROAD

Committee Held a Meeting and Discussed the Ordinance.

Will Recommend Right of Way
Asked—Several Minor Changes.

The railroad and telegraph committee of the general council held a meeting Saturday night to take up the application of a right of way from the Paducah and Cairo Electric Railway Company, which matter had been referred to it.

The ordinance granting the right of way was accepted with a few changes. One of these was that where the track or street was torn up, it should always be replaced at the expense of the railway company.

Another was that no steam car should ever be operated over the line, it being exclusively an electric car line.

The right of way asked, from Eighth to Clay, down Clay to Third, and down Third to Broadway, was agreed on by the committee, and it will recommend it in its report to the council this evening.

If the ordinance is adopted by the council, it then goes to the board of aldermen Thursday night, and must then be given final passage by both boards before it becomes effective.

A GOOD GAME

BUT IT WAS CALLED ON AC-COUNT OF "INCLEMENT WEATHER."

There was a most spirited game of baseball played on the O'Brien grounds near the Union Depot yesterday afternoon between the "Fats" and "Leans," two teams made up in the South Side of the city, the former professional and the latter gentlemen. There has been much contention and considerable feeling of late between the two teams and they decided to try it out on the field at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

In order that everything might be conducted under the strict rules governing the game and that absolute accuracy and perfect impartiality might be observed, Captain Ed Farley was selected as umpire. The game was called promptly on time with the "Fats" at the bat. It soon developed that Windy Renfro was bent on some kind of trouble, but he was soon quieted by the persuasion of Mr. Bulger and Dr. Troutman, and the prompt and accurate ruling of the umpire. Judge Goodman and Dr. Gilbert suggested that he be replaced by another player but it was decided not to do so. The game was hot from the first, but after playing six innings with the score standing six and six, the umpire decided the game off, owing to the inclemency of the weather.

It was an errorless game, except in the case of Right Fielder Windy Renfro and Second Baseman Dye, the former having sixteen and the latter nine errors marked against them.

It was greatly regretted by the hundreds of spectators that the game could not be finished, as the community is still in doubt as to which team is the superior. The demand is universal that they have another game in the near future. The line-up was as follows:

Fats—Dr. Troutman, ss; Hoppy Burnett, lf; Prof. Dye, 2b; Dr. Gilbert, p; Charley Brian, c; Frank Green, cf; Dr. Jinsing, 1b; Capt. Windy Renfro, rf; Colonel Lofton, 3b; Judge Goodman, score keeper.

Leans—Mr. Red, ss; Mr. Bulger, p; Mr. Block, c; Mr. Simpson, 3b; Mr. W. Block, rf; Mr. Yarbo, 1b; Mr. Moller, 2b; Mr. Dodson, cf; Mr. Jones, lf.

THE SMALL RANGE

MISS RUTH LA MOORE, SOUTH
THIRD, WON IT.

The small cooking range given away by the Scott Hardware Company to the child presenting the largest number of coupons cut from the firm's advertisements in The Sun and News-Democrat, was secured by Miss Ruth LaMoore, of South Third street, she having 1017 coupons. Miss May Weston was second with 704, and Miss Ruby Hill, the little daughter of Mr. S. A. Hill, came third having 315.

The contest was closed Saturday night and great interest was evinced in it during the week that it lasted.

GRAND LODGE OF KENTUCKY MASONS

Will Convene at Louisville Tomorrow.

The Annual Meetings of Masonic Bodies to Be Held This Week.

THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES

The Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons began the one hundred and fourth annual session for the election of officers today. About 100 members will be in attendance, and besides the election will transact general business pertaining to the craft.

This morning has been devoted to the assembling of the various committees and the preparation of their reports. The Masonic Veterans' association will hold its annual meeting at 6 o'clock this evening, adjourning at 7 o'clock for dinner. An attractive entertainment for this afternoon has been arranged by the children of the Masonic Home in honor of the visiting Masons and their wives. The Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters, which has governmental control over the eighth and ninth degrees will meet this evening at 7:30 with Guy Barrett, of Frankfort, Grand Master in the chair. Mr. James E. Wilhelm represents the Paducah council.

The Grand Lodge of Kentucky will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to hear appeals and grievances and to attend to all other business of the craft that comes before it. The Grand Lodge is the legislative body of the craft of Masonry, and is also the court of last resort.

Owen D. Thomas, of Lebanon, is the present Grand Master, and will probably be succeeded by Dr. R. H. C. Rhea, of Morganfield, who is Deputy Grand Master.

Messrs. Geo. O. Ingram, of Plain City, and Fred Acker, of Paducah Lodge, will represent Paducah.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons will meet Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 7:30 o'clock in their chapter room. Robert R. Burnam, of Richmond, is Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Chapter, and Joseph H. Ewalt, of Bourbon county, is Deputy Grand High Priest. Mr. Ewalt will probably succeed Mr. Burnam. Mr. I. O. Walker is the representative from Paducah to this.

"Daylight Lodge" will be set to work under its new charter by the Grand Lodge on Tuesday afternoon.

An old sword worn by Joseph H. Daviess when he fell at the battle of Tippecanoe, was presented to the Grand Lodge of Kentucky in 1855 and will be kept among the relics at Masonic headquarters. When killed Mr. Daviess was Grand Master of Kentucky and Indiana, Daviess county, Kentucky, was named in his honor.

Another valuable relic to be presented to the Grand Lodge at this session is a piece of the historic Charter Oak. It is in the form of a cross, silver mounted, and is the gift of Isaac Stuart, of Hartford, Conn.

The session of the Grand Lodge will last three days. There will be night sessions Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic Temple.

The Grand Chapter, Eastern Star, convened at Louisville today, and will end its session tonight with a banquet. Mrs. Harry G. Johnston went as representative of the local chapter, and is a guest of Mrs. N. W. McKee, formerly of Paducah, while in Louisville.

This organization is the ladies' auxiliary to the Masonic order.

JUDGE LIGHTFOOT

PAINFULLY BUT NOT SERIOUS-LY HURT IN THE MINES.

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot, who has been away from the city a week, has returned, arriving from Illinois yesterday morning.

Judge Lightfoot has been at St. Louis and in Peoria, Ill., the last week. In Peoria, he was down inspecting the mines when he bumped his head coming up a ladder and wounded his left temple. A cut was inflicted just over the left eye but it is not serious.

Judge Lightfoot enjoyed his trip immensely and saw a great deal in the week he was away.

The Ramsey Society of the Broadway Methodist church had the baking again Saturday at the Rhodes-Burford establishment. It was an "open date" and this society having been so successful Friday, took Saturday, also.

Mr. Rhodes of the firm and Mr. Dye of the Buck Stove and Range company went to Louisville Saturday to wind up the baking contest held there by children. The closing feature was a trolley ride over Louisville by the five hundred children.

Mr. Rhodes has completed his schedule for this week as follows:

Monday—Lady board of directors of the Home of the Friendless; Tuesday—the Ladies' Aid Society of the Temple Israel; Wednesday—Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church; Thursday—Ladies' Aid Society of the Third Street Methodist church; Saturday—Home Mission Society of the Broadway Methodist church. This leaves next Friday open, and as so many are clamoring for same, Mr. Rhodes has not yet fully decided who shall have that date.

TWO BRIDGE PIERS ARE COMPLETED

President Fish and General Manager Harahan Inspect.

The Work of Re-Ballasting the Cairo
Extension Began This Morning.

OTHER LATE RAILROAD NEWS

Mr. Stuvevant Fish, president of the I. C. road and Mr. J. T. Harahan, vice-president of the road, inspected the work of the new I. C. Tennessee river bridge now under course of construction near Gilbertsville, and found the work progressing nicely.

Two piers have been finished and are ready for the iron work. These are located next to the respective banks and this morning work of driving piling leading from the fill to the first pier began. The other piers are under course of construction and by the time the piers are in position and ready for the iron work to the first piers on both sides, the other piers will be ready for a continuation of the iron work.

It will require until the first of the year to finish all piers and after this it will require in the neighborhood of three months to finish the iron work.

The Illinois Central's annual meeting will take place Wednesday, the 19th, and President Fish and other officials will be in Chicago in time to attend it. Immediately after that the annual inspections of the road will be made, and the prizes awarded for the best divisions of the road.

The Louisville division has held this honor for several years past, and will probably get it again, as there is not a better kept division on the system.

This morning a decided improvement is being started on the Cairo extension of the I. C.

Since the extension was built the road-bed has been rather rough and not properly ballasted. The business done over this part of the road, and the expected amount of business to be done this season, will be large enough to warrant improvement, and this morning work of re-ballasting the road-bed with the best grade of gravel began.

The track will be ballasted and put in good condition as the main line, but the work will require several weeks. A gang was started out this morning to begin the work and it will be rushed through to completion.

Mr. L. E. McCabe, chief dispatcher of the I. C., returned from Chicago this morning after a visit to his family.

Mr. McCabe stops at the Palmer here and also does Detective McCabe, of St. Louis, the Pinkerton man who came here to locate Paul Herbert Schmidt. It was given out that the secret service man was a block signal man on the I. C.

Mr. McCabe did not know this and neither did Mr. Charles Reed, of the Palmer, who several times tried to give the detective the railroad man's mail, which of course was refused. Mr. Reed finally caught on and had no further trouble.

Theatrical Notes

During the past two seasons four companies have toured the country in Ibsen's "Ghosts" under the direction of the George H. Brennan Amusement Co. This season only one Ibsen organization will be presented by this management. It will be composed of a select cast of players comprising the artists who especially distinguished themselves in the other companies. Claus Bogel, who created nothing short of a sensation last season will repeat his wonderful impersonation of Oswald. Mr. Bogel appeared as the degenerate son in the principal cities of the country between the two oceans and everywhere he was praised without stint for his masterful handling of the difficult role. Mr. Bogel who was leading man for Mrs. Fiske when she presented a round of Ibsen plays several seasons ago, is said to possess qualities of an order that will soon place him in the front rank of American actors. He is a native of New Orleans, his ancestry being a mixture of Spanish and French.

Adelaide Fitz Allen, who starred last season in "The Duchess of Devonshire" will be seen as Mrs. Alving. Allen Davenport, who is admittedly the best Pastor Manders that has appeared in that character, will again enact the clergyman. The peculiarly vivacious housemaid Regina will be impersonated by Ada Curry, and Engstrand, the carpenter, will be in the hands of George "Ghosts" will open in Elizabeth, N. J., on October 19, and will afterwards visit the principal cities of the south and west. This will be the farewell appearance of Ibsen's masterpiece as it is booked for a run in London next season.

The costumer's art has been lavishly drawn upon for Charles B. Hanford's production of Don Caesar De Bazan. The ladies of the company all appear in the most delicate brocades, and the gentlemen in the elegance in which the Elizabethan period revealed. As a series of stage pictures alone, the production promises rare interest, and added to this is the charm of a carefully selected company. Magnificent as the costumes are, they have not been allowed to transcend in importance the people who wear them. So unvaryingly excellent has been Mr. Hanford's work that he is hailed with confidence whether he is to produce a new play or tread the boards in scenes whose familiarity only endears them the more from season to season. Miss Marie Drofnah, the leading lady of the company has been accorded a firm place in the affections of theatergoers, her work fully warranting the bestowal of full credit upon her for responsibilities she has hitherto assumed on numerous occasions with splendid ability.

The engagement is limited to one performance commencing tonight, at The Kentucky Theater. Seats now on sale.

ONE OF MR. HANFORD'S STORIES

In his earlier days Charles B. Hanford was associated with an actor whose main ambition was to occupy the center of the stage under any and all circumstances. One day this actor was seen going towards his hotel with a large square package.

"I wonder what he is carrying?" said a third member of the organization.

"I don't know," answered Mr. Hanford, "but it is probably the center of the stage. He has sawed it out and is carrying it home with him."

Mr. Robert M. Edwards, business manager of the Charles B. Hanford Company, is a former newspaper man from Iowa, and was for a long time editor of a Fort Dodge afternoon paper. He still longs to get back into the harness, and perhaps will some day. At present he has charge of one of the best shows on the road.

Like Thomas A. Edison and other men who have made their mark in current affairs, Mr. Frank Henning, the leading man of Mr. Charles B. Hanford's company was once a telegraph operator.

NO WORD

Detective McCabe Still Waiting for Orders.

Schmidt Said to Have Started to Confess to Officer Tom Murray.

There have been no new developments since Saturday in the case of Paul Herbert Schmidt, wanted at Sherman, Conn., for alleged murder. The papers are expected at any time, and Detective McCabe is still here waiting for orders from headquarters.

Tom Murray, the former I. C. special policeman who befriended Schmidt, stated this morning that he suspected all along that Schmidt was wanted somewhere and that on several different occasions he had been at the point of confession.

"Once he told me of a murder which was committed in the east," Officer Murray stated, "but wouldn't tell me who did it, but intimated he knew who was responsible. Every action convinced me that he was wanted somewhere and I told Mr. Dineen, who is at the head of the detective force on the Louisville division, and he told me to watch him. The very morning Schmidt left Paducah I had a letter framed up to show him and if possible draw him out."

OFFICERS TAKING VACATION.

Officers Henry Singery and Tom Potter are off this week enjoying their vacation and will tonight go to Memphis to attend the races.

Harry Williams, alias B. W. Boyd, was indicted by the grand jury at Lexington on the charge of illegal registration, but disappeared before the warrant could be served.

WILL SEACOAST CO. LEAVE PADUCAH?

Madison, Ind., Papers Say it
May be Located There.

A Committee Appointed to Visit Paducah and Look Over the Plant.

IT HAS NOT YET COME

Will the Seacoast Mineral company leave Paducah?

This is the concern that occupies the tall white building on the South Side, and is for the purpose of separating fluor spar and ores. It came here two or three years ago and soon afterwards was involved in litigation through the action of John Mulholland, a rich New York man who owned a majority of the stock.

The financial affairs of the concern were shortly afterwards straightened out by Mulholland disposing of his interests, and since then many months were spent in starting it up.

One has been brought here from Livingston county, and also some from the mines a few miles from Madison, Ind.

The Madison papers state that L. C. Garrett, manager of the Seacoast company, has been there to interest the people in it, and that a committee has been appointed to come to Paducah and inspect the plant with a view to recommending its location at Madison.

If this committee has yet been here, it has not been made public, but it is expected to come at any time.

It is said that there are big lead mines near Madison that will make it easier to get ore.

LOW WATER

RIVER NOW IN THE WORST FIX
SINCE 1897.

The present stage of the river is the lowest since 1897, and today the Paducah and Cairo packet Henry Harley was forced to lay up, as there was not enough water for her to get to Cairo.

This is the first time the Cairo boat had to lay up on account of low water for many years, although occasionally there has been too much ice for the packet to run.

Captain Orider is visiting in Louisville and Captain John Rollins intended to take the boat down, but it was decided at the last moment not to risk the trip.

Captain John F. Ellison, of Cincinnati, a former Paducahan, and now one of the most prominent men in Cincinnati, is here today conferring with Captains Joe and S. A. Fowler relative to the Dick Fowler, and in a few days there may be something definite to give out relative to the future of the boat.

The City of Charleston, will go out tomorrow in the Harley's place to Cairo, and the Harley will take the place of the Tennessee next Saturday in the Tennessee river trade.

IN NOVEMBER

THE COUNTY SCHOOL RALLY
WILL BE HELD.

The first Saturday in November the annual McCracken county school rally will be held at Lone Oak.

This is a big event with the school children and many are expected to be in attendance. There will be exercises by each school and the program will be long. There will be a band, a speaking, and other forms of amusement and recreation.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure For It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing a pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a Little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge there from passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, this producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

TIE INSPECTOR

I. C. HEAD OFFICE TO BE MOVED FROM FULTON.

The general tie and timber inspector's office of the Illinois Central is being moved from Fulton, Ky., to Chicago, Ill. today. Capt. W. L. R. Reynolds, chief inspector, to whose duty has also been added the work of buying pine timber, will continue to reside in Fulton, but will have his headquarters in Chicago, with an office in the I. C. Twelfth street station there.

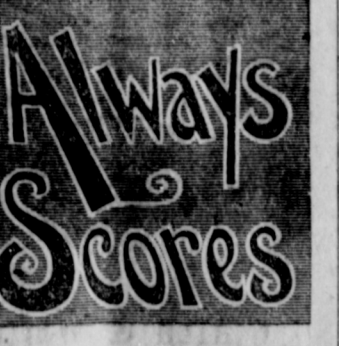

Capt. Reynolds, who has had his headquarters around here for many years, is a well-known and popular man, and his friends will be glad to know will continue to live in Old Kentucky.

DAILY THOUGHT.

Every morning we wake up with a new chance of life. Be careful that with the passing hours of the new day you do not neglect, slight or despise some opportunity. If at the close of the day you can say you have been strong, kind, merciful, helpful and considerate of others, you may rest content.—M. Stowe.

THE WEATHER.

A NICE EXAMPLE TO SET.

Some of the members of the board of education, in regard to the purchase of property in Rowlandtown for a school, denied that the committee closed the deal by authority of the board. Trustee C. W. Morrison, as told in the Sun several days ago and denied by "a member of the board" in another paper, bought the property, and did it pursuant to instructions of the board. Since his right and authority to purchase it was disputed, he went to the records and found that the board of education's minutes of June 6 show the following:

"Chairman Morrison reported recommending purchase of block of ground on North Side for $3,000, payable one-third cash, balance in one and two years. This was recommended as the best deal that could be made. Voter: Seven years, two days. Carried and committee authorized to close deal in every way.

"Clerk was ordered to give check for $1,000 when everything was fully closed and demand made by the committee for same.

(Signed.) "FRANK B. MAY,
"Clerk, Board of Education."

Now that Trustee Morrison has vindicated his position and his action, the members of the board who went back on their word are left in an unpleasant light. Their action in repudiating the purchase and "ruining back" after everything had been done except the actual formal transfer of the property, shows how little some of them know about business matters of this kind.

If the board didn't want the property, it should never have authorized its purchase in the first place. If it decided later that it would not be advisable to purchase it, however, the members could have gone to the owners and explained it to them, and everything would have been amicably called off. Instead of this course, the board waited until its committee had carried out its instructions and put the owners of the property to considerable trouble and expense, and then mendaciously claimed that the committee had acted without authority, and not content with repudiating and casting reflections on its own committee, it tried to give the owners of the property a raw deal by having it published that a clear title could not be secured to the property. The owners of the property did nothing except give the city, through its board of education, a valuable piece of property on easy terms, and deserved better treatment than they received.

As long as we have trustees with as little regard for the obligations of a business transaction as shown in this case we cannot expect to have a very exemplary or business-like administration of our public schools.

SHOULD HAVE READ HIS LETTER.

Judge Parker seems to lay himself open to severe criticism for not having read his letter of acceptance. No matter who wrote it for him the judge should at least have read it over once before giving it out, if for no other purpose than to acquaint himself in a general way with its contents. No doubt, when he told the reporter who asked him what he had to say on the negro question, that he had nothing to say upon the subject, but that the point was fully covered in his letter of acceptance, he really believed that such was the case, having probably told the person who wrote his letter to take care of that subject for him. But either by design or otherwise the subject was not touched upon, and the judge is now embarrassed, first by the fact that his letter contains nothing whatever about that question, and, second, by the fact that he does not seem to know that it was not covered.

When a presidential candidate is as thoroughly in the hands of what ex-Governor Hogg calls "the gang," he should at least go over the utterances which he has assumed, and if he has not the ability or the inclination to edit them, it would seem very wise if he should at least acquaint himself with their tenor in order that he may not make any more breaks such as this reference to something in his letter of acceptance which one fails to find when it is thoroughly searched.

There is but one line of steamships under the American flag in our trade with Europe, without which but one-sixth of 1 per cent. of our total trade with Europe, valued at a billion and a half of dollars, would in 1902 have been carried in American vessels.

The democratic organs have actually tried to make capital out of the resignation of Attorney-General Knox to become a senator, as if the president had any right to stop his doing it!

We are all true Americans, working and striving in common, toward advancing the interests of the country and civilization, and ready to fight and die for it.

Some of the mud-slinging of Hill, Gorman and Co. is about as effective as the proverbial stone thrown by a woman at a hen.

Let us be honest with ourselves; then we shall be honest to our country's welfare.

PHONE 63MR. JAMES EAKER
RESIGNS HIS JOB

His Resignation Left With President Ed Noble.

Several Mentioned to Succeed Him—
Bids For Storm Water Sewers Opened.

THE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Street Inspector James Eaker handed President Ed Noble, of the board of public works, a sealed envelop Saturday night which he said contained his resignation.

Pres. Noble said today that he had not opened it, as there had been no board meeting, but that he understood it contained Mr. Eaker's resignation. He said it would be presented at the meeting of the board Wednesday.

Mr. Eaker has told a number of his friends that he had resigned, but this is all that is known about it.

Several are mentioned as probable successors to Mr. Eaker, among them being former Councilman Alonzo Elliott, former Councilman M. W. Johnson, and former Sewerage Inspector George Gardner.

Inspector Eaker said at noon that he had resigned to make the race for county auditor.

Assistant Ed. McCormick will also be an applicant for the position and is now acting street inspector.

The board of public works held a meeting Saturday afternoon and opened bids on the revised plans for storm water sewerage on Kentucky avenue between first and fifth streets. There was but one bid, that of Messrs. Robertson & Gardner, and on account of the changes made on the plans, the bid was about 1,500 less than the bids on the other plans. The board did not award the contract, but decided to simply refer the matter to the council which meets tonight. The amount for the work will be about $8,000.

The council holds its regular meeting tonight, with the usual business on and, including the allowance of monthly bills. There will be several improvement ordinances up, and the ordinance granting the electric railway right-of-way down certain streets.

The pole gang of the Cumberland Telephone company is today preparing the cables on Broadway for removal from the street. The city has passed ordinances compelling the telephone and telegraph companies to remove all wires and cables from the street and when manager Joyner returns it will be decided what route will be taken and what means of running the cables will be adopted.

The bitulithic work has not yet begun on Broadway, but is expected to start Wednesday. There has been some delay in the arrival of the contractor's outfit, but everything will be in readiness, from present indications, by Wednesday.

A report from Humphrey, who was here recently to inspect the city light plant and recommend what is needed to give the city the service desired, has not been received, but Secretary S. A. Fowler, of the board of public works, today received a letter from Mr. Humphrey stating that he was working on his report, and would complete it shortly.

Judge Reed To Deliver Written Opinion In County School Trustee Injunction.

FEW CASES IN POLICE COURT

CIRCUIT COURT.

This morning the regular October civil term of circuit court began and Judge William Reed is holding court in County Judge R. T. Lightfoot's office, the regular circuit court room being cold.

This morning and afternoon were consumed in the calling of the docket and setting cases. This will be about all the business done, the filing of orders, setting of cases, etc., this week and next week the jury will be empaneled and regular cases taken up.

POLICE COURT.

Judge D. L. Sanders held a brief session of police court this morning. C. E. Balknell and Bud Quarles, saloon keepers who kept open on Sunday, were fined $15 and full costs.

The case against the Paducah Co-operative Company, for maintaining a nuisance by way of unsanitary premises, was left open.

Cordie Hayes, white, who beat her sister, was fined $1 and costs.

J. T. Robinson, white, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

The case against Georgia Williams, colored, for disorderly conduct, was continued until tomorrow.

COUNTY COURT.

A bill of sale was filed in county court today by which J. N. Bushart, proprietor of a saloon at 105, under the New Richmond Hotel, Broadway, sells his bar fixtures, stock of liquors, etc., to B. M. Allen.

Cecil Reed to E. G. LaGorre, for $230, property in the county.

LICENSED TO MARRY.

Robert Jones, of the city, age 21, and Ida Oakley, of the city, age 21, have been licensed to wed. They are colored, and it will make the first marriage of both.

John Thaxton, of Carterville, Ill., age 23, and Mabel Carney, of Carterville, Ill., age 21, have been licensed to wed. It will make the first marriage of both.

OPINION TO BE FILED TODAY.

Today Judge William Reed will render a written opinion in the injunction suit case brought by W. E. Downing and George Powers, trustees of school district No. 25, against A. M. Ragsdale, superintendent of county schools, to restrain the defendant from removing them from office and appointing I. M. Derrington and J. B. Walton in their places.

The case is an interesting one and grew out of the controversy over the location of a school house. The school house was inconveniently located and Superintendent Ragsdale and the three trustees could not agree. Ragsdale and one trustee wanted the school house moved a certain place, while Downing and Powers wanted it moved further and undertook to move it. Ragsdale attempted to remove them from office for malfeasance of office, and the trustees brought the injunction suit.

Judge Reed is letting attorneys for Superintendent Ragsdale draw up the decision, which will be in Superintendent Ragsdale's favor, and after the decision is properly recorded, Derrington and Watson, will qualify as trustees.

ASKS FOR SETTLEMENT.

Dr. P. H. Stewart, administrator of the estate of H. H. Hobson, today in circuit court filed a petition against Emory Hobson and other heirs of the deceased, asking for a settlement of the estate by court.

JUSTICE BARBER'S COURT.

Justice R. J. Barber called his docket today and set cases, but tried no cases. He has an ordinary size docket this term and there are no particularly interesting cases to come up.

DEEDS.

Mary E. Abbott, to Della Abbott, for $113, property in the county.

J. T. Armstrong to K. D. Sewell, for $150, property at Twelfth and Hampton Avenue.

P. E. Rudolph to C. E. Ellwood, for $450, property in the county.

Sensational Indictments Found at Pineville, Ky.

A Number of Others Are Expected and Excitement Runs High.

Pineville, Oct. 17.—The grand jury returned indictments this morning against United States Commissioner J. G. Rollins, charging him with forging certificates of election from Excelsior precinct, Bell county, during the Hunter-Edwards primary, August 9th.

Kollins, it is alleged, put a figure five before twenty-six, making five twenty-six for Hunter, and six for Edwards. He has left the county, and friends are unable to locate him.

Two indictments were found against John Langdon, of Mingo, Tenn., for stuffing the ballot box in the same precinct and interfering with the officers in the discharge of the election; against Grant Brown, Ike Turner, C. O. Thompson, Richard Johnson, C. D. Ball, members of the county committee for failing to count the vote in the primary August 15th, all are Hunter men.

Chairman W. W. Byrley, of the district committee, went before the grand jury this morning. More indictments are expected and feeling is high. Stone is likely to carry the county. The Hunter men are for him.

THE REGISTRATION

ALL THE PRECINCT VOTING PLACES THE SAME EXCEPT ONE.

Tomorrow is the last day for registering in Paducah, and Sheriff Potter announces that the registration places are all the same except Berry's.

It has been moved from the corner of Fifth and Clay to the corner of Third and Harrison, in the office of Robertson's stables.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wilhelm went to Louisville today at noon. Mr. Wilhelm goes to attend the grand lodge meeting.

PROMINENT MINSTREL MAN BUYS THE SELLS CIRCUS.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 17.—Al G. Field, the well known minstrel man, has verified the report that he is about to close a deal for the entire Forepaugh & Sells show. He said that had it not been for the unexpected death of Peter Sells, the deal would have been closed long ago. The name of the show will remain unchanged. The contract reads that delivery is to be made at winter quarters in Columbus, Ohio, November 23. Associated with him as part owners in the enterprise will be Eli M. West and Owen M. Evans, of Columbus, Ohio, and Charles S. Wood, of North Adams, Mass.

OF OLD AGE

Venerable Jewish Lady Dies Here, Aged 80.

Mrs. Rosa Heyman Follows Her Son to the Grave.

Mrs. Rosa Heyman, aged 80 years, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Lee Schwab, near Ninth and Broadway, yesterday at noon after an illness of several weeks. She died of general debility and the remains were taken to Louisville on the noon train today for interment, which will take place tomorrow.

Mrs. Heyman was born in Germany and came to this country early in life. She lived in Louisville the greater part of her life, but for the past twenty-four years had resided in Paducah. She was well known here and prominent.

The deceased had been in feeble health for some time past, and the death of her son, Mr. David Heyman, at Louisville a short time ago, seemed to hasten the end. Her grief at his death seemed to weaken the aged patient, who had been ill for some time.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Moses Schwab, Mrs. Lee Schwab, of Paducah, and Mrs. Henry Lichten, of Greenville, Ala., and two sons, Mr. Sam Heyman, of Fulton, Ky., and Mr. Nathan Heyman, of Louisville.

Those who left with the remains to attend the funeral were Mr. Moses Schwab, Fannie and Lula Wallerstein. Mrs. Lee Schwab is very ill here, and her sister is with her.

MALARIA IN THE SYSTEM

Holly Springs, Miss., March 24, 1903.
While building railroads in Tennessee some twelve years ago a number of hands contracted fever and various forms of blood and skin diseases. I carried S. S. S. in my commissary and gave it to my hands with most gratifying results. I can recommend S. S. S. as the finest preparation for Malaria, chills and fever, as well as all blood and skin diseases. W. I. MCGOWAN.

I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZIEGLER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for Malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HEMINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow blotches and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. S. S. S. counteracts and removes from the blood all impurities and builds up the entire system. It is guaranteed a purely vegetable remedy. Write for medical advice or any special information about case.

Snowbound

...By...
TEMPLE BAILEY

Copyright, 1901, by T. C. McCutcheon

It was an awful storm. The snow curled up over the tops of the fences, and there were no roads to be seen, nothing but white fields broken here and there by black clumps of trees.

Dick Harwood bent his head to the wind and spoke softly to his horses. They were floundering sturdily through the snow, eager for the end of the journey and for the comfort of the warm barn and well filled mangers.

"Who-oo-oo-oo-pee!"

Dick lifted his head and looked out over the storm swept night. That was Myra's cry, the one he had taught her when he was in short trousers and she wore long braids.

"Who-oo-oo-oo-pee!" again came the cry, but Myra was miles away in the big city. It came from the little schoolhouse at the crossroads, which was half covered with drifting snow. Dick urged his horses nearer and discerned in the doorway a dark figure, then he caught the sound of a voice.

DICK FELT HIMSELF IN A BLISSFUL DREAM.

"Please, whoever you are, won't you stop?"

"Myra!" he cried and flung the reins down and ran to her. "Why, Dick Harwood!" She held out both of her hands, and then while he held them in his warm clasp she broke down and explained, with little sobbing gasps:

"I started from the station before the storm—I thought I could get home, you know, and then it started—and at last I took shelter in here, hoping that some one would pass and give me a ride, and you are the first person who has come—and I am nearly frozen—nearly frozen, Dick."

"Wasn't there any wood in the stove?" asked Dick practically.

"Yes, but I hadn't any matches, and here I have been for hours with wood and stove and no fire."

Dick flung the door open and went into the schoolroom. The rows of battered little desks confronted him spectrally as he lighted a match and touched it to the ready laid fuel. The flames leaped up and at once began to give out comfort.

"Now, you get warm while I go and look after the horses," said Dick. "There is a shed back of the house, and I can cover the team with the old robes and give them a feed of corn. I'll be back in a minute."

When he returned he found that she had drawn an old settee before the fire. She sat in one corner of it, with her face pink in the reflected glow. Dick noticed the whiteness of the hands that she held in front of the blaze and the gleam of gold in the hair that rippled under the modish turban.

He brought in several packages and laid them beside her.

"Are you hungry?" he asked. "Starved! Oh, you blessed boy! You were taking home groceries." And she held up a box of biscuits.

He thrilled at the sound of her old name for him. How often she had called him her "blessed boy" in the days before she had become ambitious for a career!

"It's so nice to see you, Myra," he said as he rummaged in the little cupboard over the teacher's desk.

"Nice! That isn't the word for the way I feel," said Myra from the settee. "I was just dying to see you—ah!" She added the last word quickly as Dick whirled around and looked at her, with his soul in his eyes. She did not meet his look, however, and he turned away, with a little sigh. "Do you like it in town?" he asked.

"Um—mm!" she murmured. "Does that mean 'yes' or 'no'?" He had brought out a little kettle and a teapot and was filling the kettle with water from a covered pail that stood behind the stove.

"Both," she laughed. "I like it and I don't like it."

"What don't you like?" he asked. "Oh, it's all so cold. Every one thinks of himself. Why, Dick, I might live and die with twenty people in the same house and not one of them would know it until the undertaker came. That is the trouble—no one cares, no one cares," she declared passionately. He leaned forward eagerly, then checked himself. "But you have your music."

"Oh, music!" she said disparagingly, and at her tones his heart leaped. The water had boiled in the little kettle.

"I will let you make the tea," he said and opened the package of the fragrant herb. While she heated the teapot and put the tea to steep he drew a little table in front of the settee and put on it crackers and cheese and sardines. Then, with a laugh and a flourish, he set in the center a great, creamy, custard pie.

"Aunt Priscilla sent it to mother," he said, "but I guess we need it the most."

Myra danced around the table and clapped her hands like the little girl Dick remembered so well. Finally she stopped in front of him. "Dick," she said, "did you ever eat a boarding house pie?"

He shook his head.

"Well," she said, "you are in no condition to appreciate Aunt Priscilla's pie. I am the only one who will do its deliciousness justice."

It was not a bad supper, that impromptu one served by candlelight in the old schoolhouse, and Dick felt himself in a blissful dream as he looked across the table at the fair face.

After the meal Myra fell into a retrospective mood.

"Do you remember the winter afternoons right here in this old room when we children used to pop corn and roast apples and Miss Betsey would read to us—dear Miss Betsey?"

"I remember you with the freelight on your face and with your cheeks red as they are now," said Dick ardently.

"And how we used to slide down the long hill outside and how I lost my mittens once in the snow and you found them for me?"

"I remember the kiss that you gave me for a reward," said Dick.

Myra flushed. "Listen how the wind blows," she said irrelevantly.

Dick got up and went to the door.

"It's an awful night," he said as he came back with his coat collar powdered white, "but when the horses are rested and you are thoroughly warm I think I can get you home. It isn't far."

He knelt in front of the stove and poked in more wood. Myra sat with her chin in her hand as she leaned her elbow on her knee and gazed dreamily into the fire.

"It's good to be at home," she said.

Something in her tone gave him courage.

"I wish home might always be where our two hearts were, Myra," he said, with unconscious poetry.

"I think that is the only home in which I shall ever be happy, Dick," she said simply.

"Do you mean it, Myra? My ways are such plain ways, dear!"

She sighed happily as he drew her to him.

"Oh, you blessed boy!" she said. "It was just because I loved the plain ways that I came back and because I missed my friends and the dear old hills and you, Dick."

Admission by Ticket Only.

The fire engines had just gone, and the crowd, rather disgusted to see nothing more than a little smoke and a broken basement window, had dispersed. But, says the Chicago News, a number of small boys still hung about the house, apparently expecting a fresh outburst of the fire.

They were as quiet as ten or twelve boys gathered together under such exciting circumstances usually are. They scuttled up and down the steps, peering into the window and shouting the result of their observations. They ran up the front steps and peered inquiringly into the vestibule.

Suddenly the front door opened, and a little woman came out. It was plain that she had not entirely recovered from the shock of the engines and the smashing glass, but she made a heroic effort to speak calmly.

"Now, boys," she said, "go right away, if you please! There is nothing here to interest you! This is just a little private fire!"

What She Would Have Lost.

A class of normal school girls were asked to pretend for one day that they did not know how to read, in order to bring home to them the importance of reading in education. They were asked to make a list of the things that they would have been prevented from doing during that day if they had not the ability to read. The lists were read in class the next afternoon. Some very properly said that they could not have learned their lessons for the next day, could not have read the papers to find out the hour for the musicale the night before, could not have read the catalogue to find out what the pictures were at the art exhibition, etc. But the eternal feminine finally cropped out in one list which concluded with, "I could not have read the sign in M. & C.'s store saying that they were holding a bargain sale in shirt waists and would have missed buying a dandy at a very low price."—New York Times.

Gorgeous Women of Abyssinia.

For downright gorgeousness there is little that can surpass a family party of Abyssinian women bound from one village to another in festival time, notably about Easter, for the Abyssinians are Christians. A brilliant, bangle adorned headdress is bound over the brow and drawn back to fall down the shoulders. The upper part of the body is clad in a blouse of red and white literally covered with gold and silver ornaments that are handed down from generation to generation. A short skirt in the same style comes below the knees, and the legs are incased in brilliant colored strips wound tightly about like putters, often beaded and spangled. The feet, usually bare, are variously adorned with toe rings, anklet bracelets and other ornaments.

It's Easier

To Cure, Than Endure Pain.

It is needless to suffer pain. It is easier to take a Pain Pill and be cured. If you will provide yourself with a 25c package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills you have the means of preventing attacks of pain, as well as a positive cure.

If you are subject to nervous or sick headaches, neuralgia, backache, menstrual pains, stomach ache, indigestion, nervousness; if you have dizzy spells, sick stomach or headache while traveling—sickness—all that is necessary is to take one of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills when first symptoms appear, or just before starting out to visit or travel, and they will soothe the irritated nerves, and free you from all these disagreeable affections.

In doing this you take no risks, because they are perfectly harmless, and you will have no other evidence of having taken them than the knowledge that you are free from pain.

They relieve and cure by reinvigorating and allaying the irritation of the nerves, and by stimulating the secretions.

"I am glad to find the relief that comes with the knowledge that I am freed from those terrible headaches that I have had all my life. All I have to do when I feel the approach of pain is to take one or two of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and I am free from my sufferings of three, six or twelve hours duration."—J. E. SHILOH REPORT INTERESTING FIGURES PRESENTED TO THE WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES.

A Washington dispatch states that the report of the Shiloh National Park Commission, of which Major J. H. Ashcraft, of Paducah, is a member, has been received.

The commission again earnestly urges an appropriation for a graveled road from the western edge of the field to Corinth, Miss., a distance of about sixteen miles, every foot of which is historic. A survey and estimate for such road has been made and the cost will be about $50,000.

During the past year five trenches have been marked where Confederate soldiers were buried on the field. They range in length from twenty to ninety-six feet. The plan of marking is a concrete wall twelve inches high placed around the trench and upon this wall at intervals of every three feet a ten-inch shell is placed. Then in front center is an iron tablet inscribed "Confederate Graves." The total expenditure since last report, $54,822.58.

CURES WINTER COUGH.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

A SOCIAL SESSION.

Members of Camp James T. Walbert met at the city hall Saturday night to welcome Major Anderson, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., who is visiting here for the first time since the war. He finds that the city has grown wonderfully, and the session held in his honor was a pleasant occasion.

"Your excellency's aid, Captain Foy." The governor slapped the table, highly amused.

"Twas Foy? 'Od's fish, but he has a high stomach. He carries a pretty point, though, and has used it too. He can take care of himself. And why think you I should trouble myself over such playful bloodletting, mistress? Soldering makes one not so squeamish. Health, but I have had affairs in my day. When I was a brave young blade—aye, and there were pretty eyes went red then, too," he added, with a boisterous laugh.

Anne's fingers quivered with resentment, and storm came to her eyes.

"Your excellency," she cried, "the thing was but a trick to wound and flout a loyal hearted gentleman!"

"Ah, indeed! And who this time?"

"My Lord Fairfax."

The earl chuckled in his chair. "So the baron took up for his former friend, eh?" he asked, shaking his sides. "I scarce assume that Foy is going to fight the old man."

Anne had drawn herself up, her face pale with this added humiliation. She replied with dignity.

"No, your excellency. The affront was answered by a French gentleman named Armand."

At the name the governor dropped his feet shuffling, and a quick gleam darted across his florid face.

"Armand!" he cried. "The devil, eh? Foy to fight him?" He struck the bell for the orderly as he spoke.

"It shall be stopped," he went on. "An affront to Lord Fairfax, you say—a king's man, aye, and a loyal. London field, is it? Foy shall be disciplined, the rascal! I thank you, mistress, for this information. I shall send at once and put a stop to the meeting."

He was leading her to the door as he spoke, not waiting her thanks, and as she went out she heard him rumbling angry instructions to his orderly.

Before she had gone from view of the fort gate four mounted men poured out and clattered down the high road at a planter's pace.

Later, in her own chamber, Anne opened her window and, leaning far out on the ledge, gazed into the night.

"Like little stars," she murmured, "wandering in the blue." Then, after a pause, "A little nearer, a little closer than all else besides."

CHAPTER VIII.

THE spot selected for the meeting was not near by, since Virginia's earl governor had forbidden encounters within a ten mile of a military camp. Foy rode thither with his seconds, Rolph and a lieutenant in the royal forces.

"I like not these night affairs," spoke the lieutenant. "Dew is slippery, and the light deceives. I have known of accidents."

Foy cut in with a laugh of contempt. "Twill be an accident 'f faith," he said. "If I send not his soul a-scurry to hell for that glass!"

"I mind me that fight at Minden," said the lieutenant musingly. "Twas no white night such as this, but black as the Earl of Hell's riding boots. Roots and slimy grass and—"

Foy cursed him, with his hand shaking on his rein. "Let that alone for now!" he snarled. "They lied on they said he slipped. They lied! 'Twas fair, I tell you!"

"Aye," said the other, surprised. "Twas a fair thrust. None doubt it."

"Where are your wits?" said Rolph, reining close. "Know you no better topic? When you have tried the young upstart, Foy, we shall have a toddy to-night. This air has an agree."

A lantern had been set at the byroad, and at this Henry and Armand turned into the open space. The curving road on the higher Blue Ridge slope had been delicately grayed with a gossamer mist creeping up from the late downs. Here it had risen thicker, curdling more deeply against the ground and sopping the air with the smell of wet beech bark. With the sailing moon above, it was like going in some murky, dull world where near things were shadowy and far vanished into opaque whiteness.

The other party was in waiting, the horses, in charge of a groom, tethered near by under clusters of black scarred, white stamined birches, which stirred dimly as if afraid. Through their moving branches fitful flashes of fog-mixed moonlight filtered whitely on Foy, striding up and down, slashing on goldenrod heads with his sword and listening to the rustle of late rabbits, scurrying.

"Gentlemen," said Henry gravely, "know you no means by which this meeting may be avoided?"

"The young crows' crowing less loudly, eh?" Foy turned to his seconds with a rolling laugh.

A quick word of anger was on Armand's lips as he faced Henry, which died as Burnaby spoke:

"Let him to his knees and ask Captain Foy to use his riding whip instead of his sword."

The Frenchman's laugh rang out clearly and loud. "I have seen M. le Capitaine ride. If he uses his sword as poorly as his whip—"

"Execution!" said Foy. "Measure those swords, Rolph, and be quick about it."

Henry held Armand's coat and waistcoat after he had stripped them off and stood, slight and young, in his shirt. He looked at him with rising pity. All Virginia knew of Foy's sword skill. He had a black record in the army of Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick, and those tales had been whispered wide in Williamsburg. There he had come to no open quarrel as yet and was made a boon companion by such pet tipsters as Burnaby Rolph and lesser fond eaters like young Brooke. But the better class gave him a cold shoulder as unworthy to mix with gentlemen of character and would have needed little to have named him to his face for a sneaking whelp that smelled strong of the hangman.

The young Frenchman took Henry's hand between both his own. "I have been so occupied these last three hours," he protested contritely. "Have I said to you that you are generous and kind to assist those in the affair of a stranger? Have I said that I was grateful?"

"Colonel Washington," said Henry, "is my best friend. An I had been in the inn parlor, sir, I had drunk that toast with you."

The night was very still. Scarce a leaf stirred in the vagrant breeze or shivered in the haze. Only a dull humming chirr of night insects from the thicket and drifting across this—a gold snake on a sad carpet—the rich, plaintive bubble of a whippoorwill.

"Gentlemen," cried Rolph, "is all ready?"

"Have you no command, monsieur?" Henry asked.

The young man's eyes were soft as he shook his head. "How sweet it sings!" he said. "Listen!"

It died, and the tapping of a bell, very faint and far and tenuous, came over the still valley. Henry knew the sound. Away to the eastward on a high knoll, stood a long, low structure of limestone, with a wide veranda. Perched upon its roof were two wooden belfries with alarm bells, which had been hung twenty years before, after Braddock's defeat, when the Indians turned their tomahawks against the white chief that dwelt there. The Indians had been driven westward long ago, but the bells still rang whenever the master, with yelping hounds or by daring torches, came back to his lodge. At this moment, while Armand stood in the moonlight with a naked sword in his hand, my Lord Fairfax, for whose affront he stood, was once again saddened to Greenway Court.

Foy's voice broke in, sweetly wrathful. "Are we come to string beads?"

"En garde!" cried Armand, turning sharply, and the two blades rang together with a clash.

Foy's attack was wonderfully strong. He had the trick of carrying the head well back and resting the whole weight of his body upon the left leg, a sign of one whose learning had been without masks. The other's method was as different from that of his antagonist as night from day. He fought far forward, engaging much with the point.

A maitre d'escrime might have seen in his action some of the freedom and directness which later gave Bertrand, the greatest fencing master of Europe, the surname of the "Terrible." But to the watchers it seemed to be utterly without method—barren of rule—to be loose, uncontained. He possessed the appearance of a child at careless play with a serpent, not conscious of its sinister intention.

A pain came into Henry's dark eyes and a paler tinge to his cheeks. He groined inwardly as Foy suddenly came at Armand, pressing him back in a furious chasse-croisse, first the right foot forward, then the left.

The lieutenant stood close to Henry, his lips parted, watching. "They say Foy was taught of Angelo," he whispered. "And that the pupil could best his master. Your friend is in evil case."

So indeed it seemed. Foy was a brute, and he fought like one, with face distorted and breath rattling with rage. He came on with the lunge of a hunter at a boar, his blade hate heavy, and the very fury of his rush sent the young Frenchman back to the verge of the bushes.

Armand returned with a stop thrust, parried a lunge and answered by a riposte. Then for a moment there was nothing but the de-tac-au-tac of slim steel, cutting wayward blue white flashes where the milky light caught its edge.

"End the cub, Foy," cried Rolph with an oath, "and let us to town! You could have spitted him forty times!"

"By heaven!" suddenly burst out Henry. "Bravo!"

The Frenchman's blade, beating up a banquette, had nicked a crimson gash on Foy's shoulder.

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

The "Outing," a handsome launch owned by Mr. C. C. Hinton, of Madison, Ind., has passed up after a two weeks' stay at the fair.

The gauge is today .4 of a foot and stationary. There is no prospect of a rise until there is rain above. If there is much more of a fall, the Henry Harley will have to be withdrawn from the Cairo trade and a smaller boat substituted.

Captain Bob Crider, of the Henry Harley, has gone to Louisville on a visit to his family.

The Clyde will come out of Tennessee river today, and it is the intention at present to send the Lulu Warren out in her place Wednesday evening.

The Charleston arrived from Tennessee river last evening and is at Joppa unloading.

Captain J. A. Crouch, of the City of Charleston, has not yet taken his boat up in the Elizabethtown trade. The Lulu Warren was unable to get through and returned Saturday evening. Captain Crouch leaves today in a buggy for Smithland, and will there take a skiff to make soundings and satisfy himself whether or not there is enough water for the City of Charleston.

Diver Mills, of Mound City, Ill., arrived today on the Saturn, a gasoline boat, and with a crew in charge of Captain Tom Ryman, Jr., went up to the Bob Dudley wreck to make further examination of her hull, and ascertain what prevents her being raised.

The Castalia and Pavonia have been doing harbor work today, but none of the tie boats are now making trips on account of the low water.

The Tennessee had a good trip up Tennessee river Saturday night.

The Alda leaves for Memphis today, in charge of Captain Randall Ballowe. She has just been thoroughly repaired and painted on the dry dock, and is a fine looking craft.

The Inverness is now being repaired on the dock at the foot of Jefferson street.

The Alert, Mr. Frank Mantz's little gasoline boat, is doing considerable business these days. Saturday she took out a society boating party, went to Metropolis and brought up the high school basketball club, and yesterday made a trip to Smithland.

The gasoline Myrtle is at the foot of Broadway. She runs to Dyersburg.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1932: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty-cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Use Shoffner's Sure Cure The City National Bank

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, KY., March 5, 1933.

To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles, and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

MRS. JOHN SMEDLEY, 806 S. Third St.

This is to certify that I believe the Shoffner's Sure Cure saved my life. I was not able to sit up in bed when I began taking the remedy. I had such a severe cough I thought I had consumption. Physicians had given me up to die. After taking one bottle I was able to sit up some. After using five bottles I was fully restored to health. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful remedy for indigestion.

BETTER RESULTS

SINCE NEW SCHOOL HAS BEEN OPENED.

Since the additional school has been running in Mechanicsburg, the pupils are being handled with better results and the work in the schools in that section of the city is much improved and more complete.

The schools are still crowded, however, but Superintendent Leith states are running more smoothly than heretofore and that better results are being had.

The fire escape at the High School will be finished today and tested. After it has been completed and ready for service, the pupils will be drilled in leaving their rooms and getting to the escape without any confusion.

The official period of mourning for King George of Saxony is placed at twenty-four weeks.

CANINE CORPSE

CAUSES A FLURRY IN POLICE CIRCLES LAST NIGHT.

Mrs. McGarvey, of 1387 Kentucky Avenue, last night telephoned the police that her daughter, while picking red haws near their home, found the remains of what she believed was an infant.

It was partly buried, and was in a small box. Owing to the darkness, the officers could make no investigation last night, but today the body was found to be that of a pet dog that had died in the neighborhood and been given a rather elaborate burial.

KENTUCKY NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS

PRIMARY AT PRINCETON.

Princeton, Ky., Oct. 17.—In the Democratic primary held here today the following were nominated: For county judge, Squire Black; representative, H. M. Jones; county attorney, J. Elliott Baker; Sheriff, W. F. Dodds; Jailor, Lofton Jones; school superintendent, Miss Nannie Catlett; assessor, D. G. Throckmorton; county clerk, R. L. Gresham. Total vote polled 1,004, this being a small vote.

WANT $1,000 DAMAGES.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 17.—J. M. Perkins and wife filed suit against W. C. Perkins, Sr., for $1,000 damages, alleging that, armed with a shotgun, he ran amuck at their residence and they were forced to flee for their lives.

KILLED BY A KICK.

Fulton, Ky., Oct. 17.—Mr. Nathan Pharris, the well known farmer who was kicked by a mule at his home near Croley, in Hickman county, a few days ago, is dead.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 17.—After thirty-one years of married life, Elizabeth Veazey has sued her husband, Edward Veazey for divorce. They are both nearly 60 years old and are residents of this city. Mrs. Veazey, through her attorneys, Johnson & Jennings, has filed suit with Circuit Clerk Gatlin. In her complaint she sets forth that her husband has property in his own name worth $5,000 and she prays for sufficient alimony out of the property to support her for the rest of her days. The plaintiff alleges inhuman treatment.

MATERIAL FOR A FEUD.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 17.—In a shooting at St. Charles, Edgar Long was shot and, perhaps, fatally wounded. The name of the other party to the affray could not be learned, but both parties were using Winchesters. The difficulty is said to have resulted from Long insulting the other man's wife. Further trouble over the matter is said to be expected at any time, as Long has two or three brothers, who are said to be very dangerous men, and it is feared that a feud has been started.

KILLED BY A FALL.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Mrs.

Sallie Byars, widow of Alexander Byars, of Todd county, died at the home of her son-in-law, John C. Duffy, in this city. She was injured by a fall last spring and had since been an invalid. She was eighty-four years old.

DR. LACKEY SUED.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 17.—A damage suit has been filed in the circuit court against Dr. Walter Lackey, growing out of the charge of cruelty and inhuman treatment of patients, which led to his removal as first assistant physician. Mrs. Mary C. Bourland, of Hopkins county, mother and next friend of Spegal Bourland, who has for the last two years been an inmate of the institution, brings suit for $10,000 damages.

She alleges that Dr. Lackey on the 23d of last March, while acting as superintendent in the absence of the superintendent, cruelly and maliciously beat and bruised her son, who was at the time in custody of two attendants, and had one arm bound, rendering him entirely helpless; that said beating was not in Lackey's necessary self defense, but was without justification or excuse upon his part.

This is the case mentioned in Superintendent Board's report, which was accepted by the governor as ground for Dr. Lackey's removal, although he tendered his resignation. The case cannot be tried until the spring term.

RICH MAN INDICTED.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 17.—W. A. Nibbet, reputed to be the wealthiest individual in Hopkins county, president of the Providence Coal Company, and one of the largest stockholders in the Hopkins county bank, was indicted by the grand jury for keeping a disorderly house. When two lodges gave a street carnival here recently he rented a hall to the proprietor of a houchie-couchie show, and out of this fact grows the indictment.

TYPHOID RAGING.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Typhoid fever is raging in Hopkins county at present, many families having three and four cases in them. Fifteen cases are reported at the little town of St. Charles and there are perhaps twenty cases in this city.

crowd of people, several from Paducah. It was probably the last singing of the year, as it is getting too chilly for outdoor meetings.

Rev. G. W. Perryman had unusually large congregations at the First Baptist church yesterday, and at the evening service there were two additions to the church, and three baptisms. This morning Rev. Perryman and two daughters left for Nortonville to join Superintendent Logsdon, of the L. & N., and accompany him on his private car to the St. Louis exposition.

Large congregations were out yesterday to hear the Rev. W. E. Cave at the First Presbyterian church. He spoke in the morning on "The Mercy of God" and at night on "The Re-Entrancement of Man." Dr. Cave is an earnest, forcible speaker and has always been most popular here. He was called to the pastorate of this church last Sunday, and has accepted and will be formally installed in the near future.

Rev. D. C. Wright preached two strong and eloquent sermons yesterday at Grace Episcopal church and was heard by interested congregations. Dr. Wright is doing a fine work in his church and is meeting with the hearty co-operation of his people.

There was one addition to the Broadway Methodist church at the night service. In his morning sermon on "The Benevolences of the Church" the pastor stated that this church had paid to the various church organizations and benevolences $1,396 last year.

The Forty Hour devotion began yesterday morning at High Mass at the St. Francis De Sales Catholic church and will continue until High Mass tomorrow at 7:30 a. m.

Tomorrow is St. Luke's Day and will be observed by special service in the morning at Grace Episcopal church.

The Senior Epworth League of Broadway Methodist church held services yesterday afternoon at the poorhouse.

NOTICE WOODMEN OF WORLD.

J. H. Brewer, state manager, is here and wishes to have a meeting of the officers of both Olive and Jersey Camp, in room 100, Fraternity Building to night at 7 o'clock. Members invited.

GARBLED QUOTATIONS.

How Parker Missed McKinley's Last Speech.

From Parker's letter of acceptance: "He pointed out in his last address to the people that we must make sensible trade arrangements if we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

What McKinley said: "By sensible trade arrangements which shall not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus."

Judge Parker quotes McKinley further as follows: "A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to the continued healthful growth of our export trade." But he stops there without including the following last sentence of the paragraph: "We should take from our customers such of their products as we can use without harm to our industries and labor."

Who says the "most noble judge" could purposely misrepresent?

"POLITICAL OLIGARCHY."

Some Facts About Voters' Rights in Virginia.

Something like a hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson protested against the new constitution of Virginia because it gave more power to 19,000 voters in the plantation region of the east than to 30,000 in the non-slaveholding western part of the state. Hence, he claimed, the state would be really ruled by an oligarchy. Let us see whether this is true now. In the Third district, one of the old slaveholding districts, are included the cities of Richmond and Manchester, and one in twenty-eight of the population votes. In the Fourth district, another of those with a large ex-slave population, a total vote of 6,341 was cast in a population of 160,321—one in twenty-six—the winning candidate receiving 5,717 votes, or about five-sixths of the whole. In the Ninth district, including some of the western counties, about whose rights Jefferson was solicitous, a total vote of 27,170 was cast in a population of 227,381—about one vote in seven. The Republican candidate received 13,694 votes, and his opponent 13,476, more than twice as many votes as were required to elect a Democrat in the Fourth district, while the total vote is four times as great as that in the Fourth district and the population only about 60,000 greater. Sixty thousand more people and four times as many votes required to elect a representative! And Jefferson called it political oligarchy when 19,000 voters had more power than 30,000. And Judge Parker does not desire that justice shall "wait on political oligarchy!"

Roosevelt and the Farmer.

[From the Orange Judd Farmer.] Especially do the farmers of America pin their faith to Theodore Roosevelt. He knows them and their wants. He was the first president to comprehensively grasp the problems of forestry, irrigation, good roads, rural free delivery, etc. He was instrumental in putting into force laws and policies for aiding agriculture in these and many other respects.

He appointed a commission of experts to review the land laws and to outline such reforms as would best promote the public interest in general and also the welfare of the bona fide settler, stockman, rancher and lumberman, while putting a stop to the plundering of the public domain. Roosevelt means that the public lands, waters and forests shall be the heritage of the people.

The federal irrigation policy has been wisely championed and fathered by Theodore Roosevelt. Without subjecting east or west to further agricultural competition, this irrigation policy is creating thousands of happy and self-sustaining homes in the previously arid west, thereby developing a large addition to that best of all markets for our labor, capital and manufacturers—the home market.

Still more wonderful, this national irrigation policy is being carried out without expense to taxpayers. The money for it comes from the sale of public lands—$27,000,000 now available—and is paid back by the settlers upon the land irrigated.

Anti-Imperialist Fashions.

[From the New York Tribune.] Mr. Dooley remarked a few days ago, "The attire of Ivy Dimmycrat's house is filled with of policies that he wanst used—policies that have faded or punctured a tire or broke a main-spring or been run over by a band-wagon." Anybody who goes into the Democratic parrot and seeks the corner where the castoff garments of anti-imperialism have been thrown with the successive changes of fashion will certainly confess that Mr. Dooley in this respect understands the Democracy. For five years now the Democracy has been denouncing "imperialism," and this year it again appears in that role, with the so-called anti-imperialists proclaiming it the only hope of human liberty. Yet the fashion of its anti-imperialism has changed so often and so completely that it would hardly know itself if it picked up in its former costumes for the part.

Like Many Others.

An old time Democrat in a Michigan town was discussing politics with a rural democrat, at the same time dividing a sack of peanuts between them and spreading the shucks over the courthouse steps. "How did you like Judge Parker's speech of acceptance?" asked the town Democrat. "Well," said the rural delegate, as he took another handful of peanuts, "I like peanuts a whole lot better."

WORKMAN KILLED

CHARLES WHITE CRUSHED TO DEATH AT THE TENNESSEE RIVER BRIDGE.

Charles White, aged 34, of Grand Rivers, Ky., was crushed to death at the new bridge being built over Tennessee river near Gilbertville Saturday. He, with three others, was at the bottom of one of the big caissons used in building the piers of the bridge when a big automatic shovel filled with a ton of concrete, as it descended in the caisson, caught him and crushed his body to a pulp.

As soon as possible, the shovel was hoisted and the mangled mass clung to it until pulled off. The remains were taken to the top on the hoisting apparatus and prepared for burial at Gilbertville. He leaves a wife and two children.
